

So Long Ago

P.F.P.

Paul F. Page
ASCAP

1. Here I sit and wonder why the clouds are in the sky a - bove ____
2. There's a sto - ry I must tell to e - v'ry - one I see or meet. The

1. Wish - ing some - how I could fly on wings so soft - ly to my love. ____
2. sto - ry's one that you know well: how once you made the

2. days so sweet. ____ But now you've gone your part - ing way and left me lone - ly day by day. There's so much more for me to say, but ____ then I'll have to wait for you, my love. ____

So Long Ago

21 Fine

3. I don't know how I'll last 'til then. I'm lost with - out your
4. Some-thing hap - pened quite by chance when sud - den - ly I

25

3. hap - py smile. The day has gone a - way a - gain. But I will wait a
4. caught your glance. I knew at once my life was gone to brand new dreams and —

29

3. long long while — for you, my love, — for you.

35

4. brand new songs. — You touched my hand; my heart was glad.

So Long Ago

39

Ne - ver a gain would I be sad. There was mu - sic in the air as the wind so gent - ly caught your hair. But that was so so long a - go. And

39

43

43

D.S. al Fine

24 January 1970